I. Welcome To The Journey

Much as my Huber associates I believe the full development of the soul is accomplished over numerous lifetimes, which I call Life Journeys. Although each journey takes an average of 72 plus years to complete, each life you live is much like attending the Universal School of Soul for one day. Some subjects are harder to learn than others and often need to be repeated. Some have Karma from previous lives alongside the lesson being learned this time round and some do not. Others enhance skills began in other lives. Some topics are at the kindergarten level because a new approach has been selected and foundations are being laid. Every person designs their own journey and not even those of twins are perfectly identical. Each life each is lived as a fully unique individual and will never be repeated as the person you are now.

As an astrologer I consider myself to be your guide, to help you to further your soul's particular goals and to shine a light on the path meant to lead you to higher levels of meaning, purpose and awareness. I share a sacred trust with you my client and it is my duty to be as objective as I possibly can. Therefore my efforts are ever towards your greatest good and I have looked for the best way to point out any roadblocks along your life's highway this time around. Human we all be and there are none among us who have not slipped a little as they trod the path to higher consciousness. Life is never without its struggles, but these conditions strengthen us as we humbly reach for that within us which is divine.

At its best my written report can only highlight the possibilities of expression through generalities, therefore by no means is this astrological analysis complete. Without a doubt, you are far more complex than what these few pages can possibly portray. Nevertheless it is my hope that the descriptions of your inner character will lead you on your way to really discovering; who you are, what you can become, what talents are lying dormant, what your path is and what lessons you need to learn in this life. My goals are much the same as yours and it is my joy in life to have been given the skills to help a fellow soul treading along life's path and in knowing that the world is a little better off for the work I do.

Your Moment In Time

Your journey begins when Spirit endows Corporeal Matter with Life and Births itself into Physical Reality and The Life Journey Report is a first step in decoding the symbolic language of your birth chart. It explains the raw materials you have been given for building a life and indicates the strengths you have to meet its challenges. It outlines how the overall shape of your chart, reflects your personality and highlights what your greatest talents are likely to be. It indicates the main areas in which you are most apt to play out your life's drama.

Your birth moment can be likened to a seed that contains the potential for how you will unfold. The planetary positions will never be repeated exactly the same way and their array at your birth employs the language of symbols that reflect who you are. Your horoscope contains the raw materials you were given to fashion a life enabling you to see yourself from the outside looking in and extend your point of view. We are all given our special problems to solve and special strengths to do this with. There is no such thing as a norm for everyone; however there is a special pattern that is right for you and you alone. Enhanced knowledge highlights the energies you chose to work with and enable you to grow in the direction meant for the lifepath this time around.

Like the genes that determine your physical body, your birth chart contains the same basic components that other humans have, but like your fingerprints and DNA profile the placement of planets in your birth chart are unique to you. Each planet represents a multi-faceted energy that evinces through infinite patterns when combined with the energies of the house and sign they are located in. Most likely you are not aware of the many ways your persona expresses and because you are a highly complex person, text under various headings can contradict the one preceding it. However, as we all wear 'Persona Masks' to suit the purpose of the moment, both are valid.

The interpretations are based on the position of the Sun, Moon and Planets at the moment of your birth, as seen from the location of your birth. Your report has been formulated on the assumption that you submitted an accurate birth date, time and place of birth were. A difference of as little as 15 min. in birth time invalidates many of the interpretations given in this report. Most notably the accounts for 'House positions of Planets' and 'The Ascendant' will be inaccurate. Should this be the case then only accounts for aspects formed between the planets apply. If there is a large variance in time then accounts on aspects that form to the Moon are also inaccurate.

Huber Astrology

Developed by Swiss astrologers Bruno and Louisa Huber after many years of research and in-depth studies into Esoteric Principles, the Huber approach to astrology unfolded when they founded the first Huber Astrological Psychology Institute in Zurich in 1962. They had previously worked as assistants to Roberto Assagioli the founder of Psychosynthesis and were followers of Assagioli's friend and esoteric colleague, Alice Bailey. In Psychosynthesis the emphasis is on the progressive integration of one's personality around one's Essential Self through the use of Will.

The Principles Of Huber Astrology; -- All Astrological Symbols are Neutral. -- Astrological Psychology is not wedded to any philosophy or religion, because the only thing in the system that matters is increasing your self-awareness. -- Your birth chart is a blueprint for the happiest, most fulfilling and spiritually creative path of growth available to you. --You alone are responsible for the way you embody your birth chart and we cannot determine your level of response to your birth chart from the chart alone. -- We recognize the irreducible mystery of life and your unique viewpoint on that mystery as an absolute.

To this end; Huber Astrological Psychology incorporates Dr. Assagioli's specifically designed psychological techniques and much of Alice Bailey's esoteric knowledge. Because the Huber method insights personal character and destiny with such accuracy, it's rapidly becoming the method of choice for many astrologers around the globe. I have used this approach with clients for the past 35 years to aid them on their journey's of self-discovery and am delighted to offer you a written report that harnesses the analytical power of Huber Astrological Psychology.

The Huber Chart

Level 1. The 'Center Circle' is the deepest level and represents your 'Core Essence'. This circle is 'impregnable' and no aspect lines are drawn through it. Through this entranceway your 'Ego-self meets your Higher-self'.

Level 2. Energy from your 'Core' moves outwards to express your unconscious motives through pulsating aspect energies.

Level 3. Planets represent your psychological drives and are energized by the aspects transmitted from deep within your core.

Level 4. 'The Zodiac' is a cosmic belt of creative energy is the magnetic mantle of our Earth. Twelve equal but uniquely different signs signify the twelve basic roles of humankind. Signs are the qualities and substances of this living 'entity' and humanities link between our earth and the cosmos. They contain the sum total of human knowledge and just as humanity they evolve and through us as co-creators of our Universe, our Earth grows in consciousness. They carry your DNA signature and represent your inherited genetic traits. Because they embody the four elements, through three different types of expression the inherent nature of a sign colors the way you experience life.

Level 5. 'The Houses'. These represent the environment where you live and express the potential contained within your 'Tool Kit'. Each house incorporates the energy of the sign that colors it and expresses in the mode appropriate to it. Each combines all descriptive values uniquely and these subtle differences affect the way a planet expresses its own particular energy. Along with their particular designations each House represents a Six year period of time on your journey. Depending on the size of the house you are passing through it may feel as if time is passing at a snail's pace or moving at the speed of light. Every house has an energy curve. Within it are the Balance Point and Low Point (B.P). - L.P.).

The 'Age-Point (AP)' symbolizes you on the journey that begins at your Ascendant degree of birth. You move forward through each consecutive house, and re-cross the Ascendant degree on your 72nd birthday and continue onwards. As you revisit the houses of youth greater insight may be gained.

II. Planets - The Soul's Tool Kit

Planets symbolize the 'Core Energies' in your 'Soul's Tool Kit'. Solar, Lunar and Saturn energies are conscious. Venus, Mercury, Mars and Jupiter energies are sub-conscious. Uranus, Neptune and Pluto energies are super-conscious. The North Node symbolizes, present life directives. These vital energies function innate drives within you and convey at different levels of expression. Spirit uses matter to manifest into physical reality and your Body is the vehicle used to experience the journey. Your soul's underlying quest is to integrate all aspects of your personality into a consciously functioning instrument for spiritual development and it will use your body in whatever form it exists to achieve this end.

Aspects

Aspects are the angular relationships formed between the planets. These are dynamic, vital components linking planet energies in the solar system. In your horoscope aspects are areas of your psychic-self making contact and working with or against each other. Through consciously experiencing each energy you get to know yourself. There is no such thing as a 'purely good or bad' aspect. Some appearing to be 'easy' can also lack impetus, while those that initiate action create both stress and relief. In actuality you fluctuate between both a positive and negative expression of energies and as you progress through the three main phases of life you will modify the way you apply them.

Unaspected Planets: In essence the lack of aspects to an unaspected planet removes many restraints because it's not closely wired into the overall circuitry of your chart. It can make you may feel as if a piece of yourself is missing while deep down inside you know it's there. You don't get to understand and come to terms with its expression quickly and it can overstate itself in a bid for recognition. Although an unaspected planet's energy can be difficult to express or control if you don't consciously work to moderate its function it will be controlled and directed for you by both your environment and the people within it. Still, planets do progress and over your lifetime it will aspect other planets so you will have many opportunities to come to terms with its energy and understand yourself better.

Retrograde Planets: From a perspective on Earth, a planet can appear to be in reverse motion. However, planets can't go backwards, hence the term is apparent and an Rx is used note it in a birth chart. When a planet is in apparent retrograde motion much of it's energy is directed inwardly so you're more sensitive to it and can better understand its meaning. Although it may express itself more subtly, it can still express very powerfully. In terms of karma it may indicate that there is an unachieved goal you need to complete or a life lesson you have been working on and it is still ongoing.

Color Balance

Therapists researching the use of colour as a healing tool, suggest that certain shades of colour can produce a predictable reaction within your psyche. In Huber Astrology we see colour as signifying your unconscious impulses and when a colour is missing from a chart it indicates a disproportional approach towards life.

The colour Red found in Square and Opposition aspects, represents extroverted energy that releases by inciting or challenging you to participate, perform and accomplish. However the release of energy in the Opposition tends to be more impulsive and over-active.

The colour Blue found in Sextile and Trine aspects, represents assimilating, energy at rest. This harmonizing energy urges you to maintain the status quo and heed your security needs. However Sextile energy has greater disdain for conflict and tends to release by making a greater effort to compromise.

The colour Green found in Semi-sextile and Quincunx aspects, represents thinking, energy that provokes you to search for meaning. Semi-sextile energy is content to assimilate and contemplate, whereas Quincunx energy actively searches for answers and needs a firm conclusion.

III. Motivation

Square Aspect Structure

Your chart is made up of singular lines of energy that conjoin into four or more sided figures. This factor indicates an intense need to maximize efficiency and 'calculated shifts' in direction as you go forward in life. Much like the 'Tortoise who raced a Hare and won', you apply yourself to challenges through a controlled but steady expenditure of energy to gain ground and assure success. However if life tosses a monkey wrench into your well-organized plan and pressures you to fast track a goal, your coping skills may go out the door as you don't come to decisions quickly or easily adjust to new circumstances.

Honoring your need for stability means more than just states of constancy but the compulsion to resist change, pulsates deep within and urges you to uphold the 'status quo'. As such you must face and master another challenge by teaching yourself to move from a comfortable position when change is warranted rather than support outmoded purposes. Unlike a tortoise that retreats to the safety of its shell till danger passes, you have the capacity to utilize energy befitting a situation and create the security you need. Once equilibrium is gained, apply yourself to other conditions in need of symmetry and enjoy the rewards that generally accompany forward movement.

IV. Energy Patterns - Sub-personalities

Sub-personalities existing deep within your psyche are represented in patterns of energy. These patterns are part of your personal evolution and at the core of each one lies a transpersonal quality that can transform it into a creative part of your personality. Still, transformation cannot occur without an understanding of the way in which the negative aspects of a sub-personality can undermine you. Therefore we give them credence by naming them and describing the way an energy pattern is likely to manifest. However, much depends on the planets involved in the patterns themselves.

Medium Learning Triangle

Stemming from two potential states of being, circumstances in your day to day life have the power to affect your state of mind. Your need to be perfect wars with your desire to say 'what the heck' and just go along with the status quo. Work completed may also bring unwanted consequences that force you to spend more time and energy coping with the results. Maintaining a state of inner-peace may be difficult. Publicly you may display irritation and appear to be a nervous high-strung person always in a rush to go nowhere. To regain your center it is necessary that you arrange your tasks in a recurrent logical order. Every time it falls apart repeat the process to realign yourself in the right direction. Communicating with others who can assist you in the development of effective time management will help to resolve this issue.

Small Learning Triangle

You're preoccupied with events that occur within your environment. More specifically there is one area of your life that preoccupies your thoughts and to some extent there is also dissatisfaction in this area. This recurring situation may elicit states of irritated behavior and cause you to feel as if your life is in a constant state of flux. As such there is a restless need to change it. When questioned by others as to what is wrong it is unlikely that you will be able to provide them with any answers. The why of the problem and how it happens may not even be clear to you. Although you want to live a peaceful easygoing existence this can make it hard to. As such you're ever on the lookout for any new information that will allow you to get to the root of the situation and eliminate it.

Model

Your ability to conceptualize differs greatly from what is considered to be the norm. As such you're able to extract much more context from any subject you're interested in learning and find a deeper meaning in all your life experiences. Although you appear to others as a receptive, conformist, you can also turn that persona off like a tap. In reality you're a sensitive, idealist seeking a way to make the world a better place to live in and if the environment supports your perceptions, you will no doubt become, a dominant personality and your voice is sure to be heard.

You have a way of bringing people together and effecting change but that does not imply a lack of controversy in the doing. you're persistent and very demanding of both yourself and others and you never let pessimistic people bring you down. No matter how stressful a situation gets, you can easily cope and the courage you show in the pursuit of you goals, gives hope to those who may be fainthearted but nonetheless willing companions on your path.

V. The Personal Self

SUN - Determining

The Sun is the center of our universe, and the source from which all life on earth derives its sustenance. All the planets in our Solar system orbit Sol, our Sun, and Solar energy applies itself to and influences all planetary forces. The Sun symbolizes the 'Mental Ego' function within your psyche that urges you to express yourself to better advantage and the 'Universal Masculine Principle'. It motivates you to achieve self awareness, elicit applause for achievements, acquire supported nurturing love, and express your unique individuality.

Solar energy has the potential to be and power to do. Its position in your chart highlights your main area of focus and informs you of methods that increase your chance to achieve goals. It incites you to express yourself to better advantage and it does not readily accept being delegated to a role of mediocrity. It stands for the person you perceived to; be goal orientated, give you the experience of an I-awareness, mirror worldly success and encourage you to expand your individuality. Generally this Caregiver is 'masculine'.

Harmony or disharmony between yourself and a masculine caregiver in childhood is an important factor in determining your level of self-confidence as an adult. If there was a high degree of friction with this caregiver, you may go through life thinking you must always struggle to get your needs met or achieve life goals. There is also the added possibility you could be attracted to a partner psychologically similar to this caregiver and enter into a co-dependant relationship, where you give up personal control. If so this pattern can pass to the next generation.

Sun Square Neptune

Quite possibly the self-assurance you need to achieve your goals is lacking and psychologically based inhibitions need to be overcome. The boundary line between yourself and others is weak and it's hard for you know who you are or what you want. As a child when you tried to affirm yourself you conflicted with a more potent care giver's will and which left you feeling completely misunderstood. This undermined your self-confidence so now you defend any lack of ambition by building psychological defenses against others to avoid facing personal criticism.

MOON - Emoting

The Moon; a subconscious, reflexive energy represents the Ego function within your psyche that motivates you to develop subjective, impressionable, sensitive, feelings. It symbolizes spontaneous reactions and habits, as well as the child that dwells within you. It is your vigilant radar tuning into environmental stimuli instinctively relaying messages from your inner parent as you adapt to changing vibrations. Through lunar energy you develop sympathy/antipathies, likes and dislikes, wishes and desires that lead to action. Without desire, thought as powerful as it is cannot manifest into tangible form and the fundamental purpose of lunar energy is to use your emotive faculties, to nurture and be nurtured. A healthy lunar function generates self-love and unconditional acceptance of others and because it needs to receive in kind to feel secure, it does not settle for less.

Moon Sextile Mercury

Although you don't wear your heart on your sleeve, you easily share your intimate thoughts and feelings with the people you're close to. However you do have difficulty opening up to anyone casual and your reaction to any given situation has a lot to do with the way you feel. Under extreme emotional conditions you can also become irrational and find it difficult to express yourself with clarity. You genuinely care for people, are nonjudgmental and when asked for aid most likely you do your best to give it.

Moon Sextile Venus

Warm, affable and social you do your best to avoid quarrels and confrontations. In this sense are often considered to be an oasis of peace and tranquility in the midst of chaos. As such you're inclined to go with the flow and more or less let life come to you. However there is also a tendency to avoid standing your ground when you really need too. Most likely that you get on well with people in any setting and should the need arise can smooth over a potentially awkward situation without a fuss or brouhaha. Your refusal to be negative has a calming effect on people who are distressed. This peacefulness that you convey is contagious and like good coffee in the early you're a delightful meet that brightens up an otherwise dull day.

Moon Square Uranus

Restless and fiercely independent you can't tolerate restrictions on your freedom and railing against accepted norms drives your journey of discovery. Your erratic moods can change from cordial friendliness to open hostility at the drop of a hat and often you respond sharply and sarcastically just for affect. It's hard for you to live within assigned parameters and perhaps that's why you're hesitant to commit to anything and back away from intimate relationships. You need to learn how to control your sudden, unpredictable emotional storms and postpone gratifying your sudden need to do, be, or know something. This will help things in your life to settle down and run smoothly instead of continually careening off wildly in a new direction.

Moon Conjunct Pluto

Security-seeking and extremely intense, you're prone to sudden emotional upheavals often brought on by the most trivial of issues. You have great stamina and willpower and you live by a 'never say die until you try', personal code. You want to understand the purpose of life and are driven to experience the kind of profound emotional enlightenment that often occurs during intense passion. Perhaps you also have a burning desire to know if life continues on a different plane of awareness after physical death. However, it does appear that on the whole you want the kind of depth and intrigue that supersedes what most relationships can offer you.

SATURN - Empowering

Saturn; a conscientious, structured dignified energy represents the Ego function within your psyche that motivates you to become self-disciplined and establish routines. It symbolizes your physical body and the 'Feminine Function of Corporeal -Orientation'. It empowers you to achieve maturity and trains you through practical, defensive tutoring. Saturn energy preserves your security through clear guidelines and limits, by prompting caution and self-control. It is endowed with a natural ambition for security, practicality, organization and rules. In your chart it stands for the Caregiver who mirrored authority and gave you the experience of a nurturing, physical safety-net. Generally this Caregiver is 'female'.

Saturn is Retrograde

A Retrograde Saturn may indicate that in past lives people with power over you, mistreated you and you suffered more abuse than you were capable of handling. Now you may; doubt your worthiness, isolate yourself from others and feel like fate is out to get you. To overcome any feelings of being misunderstood, begin by recognizing what happened to you was not your fault and realize that rebelling against current authority cannot avenge what was done. Share your experiences and feelings with others because voicing pain helps to release it and heal issues of low self-esteem. Although what you gain may be hard won, you will one day come to the peace you seek and the sense of restriction will be gone.

Saturn Sextile Mars

It is likely that people can see the potential in you that you seem unable to credit yourself with. Ignorance of your own capacity and talents, along with a defeatist attitude is your greatest liability. Although you're over-awed by the accomplishments of others, stop measuring their successes against yours and resolve to prevent feelings of futility to stop you from reaching your goals. Establish goals that are within your reach and grow into higher levels of responsibility one step at a time, thereby assuring that your current security is never imperiled. Once you have surmounted the idea of unworthiness, you will go far, but you must like yourself and feel that You're deserving of acclaim.

Saturn Trine Jupiter

You place a high value on education and it is likely a given that your own beyond the required curriculum, has been hard won through either self-learning or perseverance and personal expense. Your sense of fair-play and justice towards your fellowman is well-developed and your belief systems while not fully conventional do have their base in sensible theorems you can live by. You achieve success in life by setting a realistic goal, keeping your eye focused on the prize and by slowly and surely, put one foot in front of the other until you reach it.

Saturn Square Pluto

Just when you think that you have control of your life and things are moving in the direction you want, forces out of your control assert themselves and make dramatic alterations in your life direction. Still, you can transcend difficult environmental barriers through assertiveness and will, to create a life that satisfies you, but the solution lies within your psyche. Choose to change, by observing your repetitive patterns or lack of commitment to succeed, then override them through discipline and concentrated effort. Because you see change as a threat you resist it, but it will ultimately prove beneficial, even though you find it painful and inconvenient.

VI. The Interpersonal Self

MERCURY - Communicating

Mercury represents Intellectual Perception. It is energy that is used to learn, think and communicate. It motivates you to rationalize, imagine, efficiently process data from the environment, understand abstract thought and to express yourself logically. Mercury records all information and experiences, both relevant and irrelevant in a constant flow of impressions and facts. Dexterity and physical-mental wellness are also depicted by this planet, correlating the overall health of the body with the mental thought processes of the mind. In essence the fundamental purpose of Mercury energy is; to learn what other people already know.

Mercury Sextile Moon

You respect privacy, really listen to what people share and try to help them gain self-confidence. You have a knack for reading unspoken innuendo in a conversation and quickly grasp the core of a problem. In many ways You're able to build a mental bridge between the conscious and unconscious mind, and clarify emotions with mental savvy. These traits and your innate ability to combine instinct with common sense make you a natural counselor. You know how to tell an entertaining story and because a good imagination accompanies an excellent memory, quite possibly a talent for writing is also present.

Mercury Conjunct Venus

It's relatively easy for you to elicit the full support of others for your projects, because your plans are well thought out and seldom are you ever far off base. Although no doubt you're an asset to almost any business, you don't fare well in any situation where you must cope with abrasive people or compete with fellow employees to earn your living. You're at your best when dealing with people on a one-to-one basis so take these factors into consideration when you chose a profession.

Mercury Semi-Sextile Uranus

You have an uncanny ability for finding unique solutions to difficult problems, but at the same it takes you real effort to sustain a focus on one particular subject for extended periods of time. You work best in an unstructured manner and easily distracted by seemingly simple things. In order to harness your thoughts effectively, your surroundings must be free of hindrance or you feel harassed, get agitated and finally become unproductive. You know you can't really control either the interruptions or your own frustrated reactive responses. However, when your nerves are frayed you can go off alone, re center yourself, then continue where you left off. Do this often enough and others may take note of your need to be left alone when concentrating.

VENUS - Interacting

Venus represents the Equivalent Feminine energy in both men and women. This is energy used for pleasure, loving, caring and enjoying relationships. It motivates you to discern what is applicable to your well being and happiness. Venus symbolizes your ability to love yourself, open your heart and allow love in and emotional expression out. It depicts the beauty you see in life, such as art and things that bring you pleasure. It is your subconscious desire to be co-operative in ways that enable you to form lasting friendships and partnerships. The purpose of Venus energy is to develop self-esteem and feel good about yourself.

Venus Sextile Moon

You believe it's best to live in tune with the ebb and flow of life so rather than fight it you adopt a positive outlook and let it come to you. Maintaining your personal integrity is of the greatest importance and you need to know that the emotional commitments you make to others will not be abused before you invest your trust in them. You place a high value on marriage, home and family and want a partner who prizes these things as much as you do. In love, you fully express your feelings and need to feel a deep emotional connection to your partner. At home in any social setting, your charm assures your popularity because you have a gift for making others feel relaxed and welcome in your company. You have a deep concern for the welfare of others and no matter who a person is, you offer support and encouragement to them in a time of need.

Venus Conjunct Mercury

Your ability to express your thoughts through expert use of the spoken word makes it easy for you to interact with others and capture their attention. You never offend someone without just cause and you know how to compromise to maintain harmony so you get on well with most people. You enjoy life and are fun to hang out with so when you wed a desire to get things done to diplomatic skills you're very persuasive and others tend to fall in with your plans. Although you need relationships where you can talk to people expressing your concerns for them isn't easy because you intellectualize emotion and find it hard to let yourself go and just be one with what you're feeling.

Venus Quincunx Mars

Sensual and passionate the opposite sex finds you intensely amorous and attractive. You're drawn to sexually charismatic people and may consider a union with someone who is aware of their own sexuality based solely on their physical qualities. Because you tend to run hot and cold in love your emotional temperament leans towards being unstable. When you're not in love you want to be and when you're, you don't because you feel tied down. Your values change from one moment to the next and you need to learn self-discipline. Also highly creative, you have great stamina so when you resolve relationship issues you can let these ineffective patterns go and direct your energy towards achieving greater goals.

MARS - Asserting

Mars represents the Equivalent Masculine energy in both men and women. This is energy used to make decisions, initiate action and be assertive. It motivates you to stand up for your beliefs and principles and when necessary, apply your energy to aggressively defend them. It represents self-will and the spirited expression of your ego. Mars energy is essentially an instinctive, sexual, sensuousness, even somewhat primitive energy, therefore it can also be expressed as anger, frustration and rage. It urges you to become competitive and empowers you to boldly pursue any goal you seek to achieve. In essence the fundamental purpose of Mars energy is to develop courage, willpower and leadership, yet exercise self-control. This in turn allows you to assess any given situation with logic and foresight before responding to your fight or flight reflex.

Mars Quincunx Venus

When it comes to intimate relationships it might be rightly said that 'you can't live without a mate or with one'. Although you have ambiguous feelings about love and sexuality in general, you want to gain approval so you make enormous concessions to people. You start off doing someone a favor out of kindness but then they expect it and you feel like you've been a patsy for allowing someone to take advantage of your good nature. You end up mad and your relationship becomes stormy and filled with resentment. You need to say to yourself, I accept others unconditionally and I won't pander for approval, because I am just as worthy and I deserve to be treated better.

Mars Sextile Jupiter

Self-confidence, enthusiasm and vitality abound and you believe that anything you set your mind to, you can do and you may be right. You enjoy competition, have a good sense of timing and the foresight to know what will not work. You're so competitive you time yourself to see how much you can do in a defined period of time. You won't use a fellowman to further your aims in life and you don't get even with people for real or imagined slights. Nor do you hold onto anger because you see holding onto it as both a waste of your time and energy. It does appear that you're optimistic, positive attitude towards life in general will bring you many opportunities for success and perhaps even wealth.

Mars Sextile Saturn

Serious and ambitious, you're committed to achieving your goals. You work in a steady manner and bypass anything you deem to be unproductive. Born to lead, you see yourself as a sensible person but may not realize that you can be very intolerant of those you deem are not. As such there is a tendency to display resentment towards people who do not live up to your exacting standards. There is also some difficulty controlling the way you express your anger and yet you're surprised at the consequent rejection, once your rage is spent. Still, people know you can be counted on to come through for them, even if they do think you're full of your importance and an over-starched, stuffed shirt.

Mars Quincunx Pluto

You have great staying power, are eager to prove yourself and when you want something, you relentlessly pursue it till you acquire it. You're very secretive and don't play your cards until it suits you. You dislike being ordered around and should know that others dislike it too. You don't accept a no answer graciously and get frustrated when things don't go the way you want. You pit yourself against formidable opposition, but in the long run cooperation will get you further ahead. Just because you're eager to prove yourself, don't go thinking you're right all the time. Keep an open mind, you can still learn a thing or two when you sit back and give others a chance to express their opinions too.

JUPITER - Enlightening

Jupiter represents Wisdom and Optimism. It is energy that is used to expand your knowledge, and explore a wider scope in life beyond existing norms within your social structure. It motivates you to develop your own ethics and morals and to grow beyond boundaries. It represents your need to question and achieve a higher level of awareness, education, power and experience. Jupiter also depicts generosity of spirit, joy, travel, philosophy and a desire to venture into the unknown. In essence the fundamental purpose of Jupiter energy is, to develop rationality, discernment and an ability to think outside the box. This in turn allows you to exercise good judgment, lift your spirits and become more aware of opportunities that will enrich your life.

Jupiter Sextile Mars

An energetic, optimistic person, you have an enormous appetite for living, and the necessary resilience to rise above any difficulties life may present you on your path. Also productive and resourceful You're given to spur of the moment actions which more often than not bring you favorable results. You love challenges and no matter how much you accomplish, you will probably never rest on your laurels. This positive attitude and your belief that there is nothing you can't do allows you tackle most of life's problems with self-confidence and a strong will. You have the ability to lead others because you inspire courage, confidence and enthusiasm in them. The one trait you need work on is a tendency to pass judgment on something without knowing all the facts and if anything gets you into 'hot water' so to speak this will be it.

Jupiter Trine Saturn

A reliable, persistent, patient person, your word is your bond and you won't make a promise you can't or don't intend to keep. You balance yourself between idealism and practicality and your sense of duty and responsibility is finely honed. An enterprising, worker, you practice good old fashioned common sense and are smart enough to know when to hold and consolidate your profits and when to take a risk. You're also an even-tempered person, honest in your dealings and fair in your judgments of others. Although your approach may be one of cautious optimism, you plan prudently and will doggedly pursue a task, you wish to complete no matter how long it takes you and others know when you guarantee them something they can count on getting results.

Jupiter Quincunx Pluto

You prefer the companionship of powerful, influential people and are driven to succeed in life. You have a strong desire to make a difference in the world but tend to swing between an overconfident 'I can do anything' attitude and a defeatist position of "what's the point' no one will care anyway. Nonetheless it's likely you can garner any support you require to achieve your goals. You won't settle for a second-rate job and have the executive ability to get things done properly even if that means doing the bulk of the work yourself. However, you may then promise more than you can actually deliver because you overload yourself by taking on more than you can realistically accomplish.

VII. The Transpersonal Self

URANUS - Individualizing

Uranus represents, radical change, individuality and higher perception. This is energy that brings about change, often in a disruptive manner by shattering the structural norms of society. It motivates you to distinguish, your true individuality apart from the opinions and attitudes held by your family, friends and associates. Uranus represents the model by which you seek perfection, challenge the status quo and improve on the present. Uranus energy broadens your outlook, expresses self-will, and sometimes creates a desire for the bizarre side of life. It also depicts futuristic ideas, inspirational thought and the part of your psyche that can be insubordinate.

Uranus Square Moon

You're highly independent and may fear intense emotional involvement. Settling into to any sort of rigid routine that cramps your lifestyle is definitely not your bag. You have a vivid imagination, crave emotional stimulation and love surprises. Although you're easily excitable, you do recognize the necessity of controlling your emotional outbursts. Even though you demand the right to live your life whatever you want too, you do relate well to people because you respect and validate their opinions. You have an inquiring mind, are a fast learner and because you're also very perceptive you may be interested in metaphysical subjects. You can hold your own in any argument, and though you're not inclined to rebel against authority, you never walk away from a challenge or hesitate to defend your rights.

Uranus Semi-Sextile Mercury

Easily bored by conventional waffling, you will say anything to make a conversation more interesting. Although at times taking conversations on a surprising turn attracts attention and can be very amusing, it can also lead to misunderstandings in relationships. You learned the habit of breaking the flow of communication in childhood. There is a strong possibility that you had difficulty being heard as a child. You may have been interrupted a lot before completing what you needed to say, or you may have developed the habit of interrupting others to have your voice or ideas heard. If any of these communication techniques are still present; is this the kind of attention you want? It would be better to use your inventiveness and intuitive talents on a practical level, where you're a fountain of inspiration for others.

NEPTUNE - Intuiting

Neptune represents, intuition, creativity and inspiration. This is energy that is used to express the intangible, mystical, altruistic and unconditionally loving side of human nature. It motivates you to make shifts in consciousness, to express ideals and visions through music, art, spirituality and imagination. Neptune energy empowers you to cope with adversity or change by transcending life's difficulties, and imbues you with a belief that there is a higher purpose in life. It also depicts your core belief, illusions and delusions, escapist tendencies, addictive behaviour and emotional hyper-sensitivity. Neptune energy accesses the deep unconscious side of your psyche, broadens your intuitive right brain function, allows you to intentionally enter an altered state of consciousness, and generates a deeper awareness of the psyche.

Neptune Square Sun

You underestimate your talent for success and it can be hard for you to create a vision of where you're going, when you can't focus on an avenue of self-expression. Perhaps you even go as far as building impossible mental constructs in order to justify any lack of success. It is most likely that you feel some guilt because of what you're afraid to try but until you're willing to give yourself permission to fail you will never know the joy of success.

PLUTO - Regenerating

Pluto represents Destiny and Rebirth. This is energy that is used to transform, and understand the deepest, darkest parts of your psyche, commonly called 'the Shadow Self'. It motivates you to destroy old habits, or end outmoded relationships and affiliations, in order to affect rebirth. Pluto energy is an instinctive understanding that freedom is found by transmuting parts of the self and life that tie you too close to the material plane. Pluto energy brings about complete change and positive reformation. This allows you to recognize the absurdity of all narrow pursuits and understand the long-term process through which you purify and renew yourself and the world. It also depicts the darker side of humanity and often is experienced as an urge to investigate and uncover complex issues of the human condition.

Pluto Conjunct Moon

You cling to emotional bonds with great intensity, yet in times of crisis you tend to play it cool and suddenly amputate your feelings to protect yourself. For some reason you felt unnurtured by your feminine care-provider and deep emotional bonding was delayed at birth or did not occur. Although protecting yourself from vulnerability in childhood was an effective survival tool, if it became a deeply ingrained habit it sabotaged emotional bonding later in life. If you want to enjoy nurturing relationships it is essential that you overcome any destructive, defense, mechanisms.

Pluto Quincunx Mars

Your will to will is indomitable and capable of unleashing and employing a potent force towards realizing your aims. Once you have chosen to move in a particular direction you employ persistent, determination coupled to innate vitality and maintain your focus. This never-say-die attitude is the means by which you steer your course and achieve success in life. You work even harder if the challenge is great and the obstacles are many. You exult in the power surge that comes as you move closer to attaining your goals. The challenge for you is to use this innate power wisely and resources responsibly. If you manipulate people or use unethical means, you run the risk of losing everything you have accomplished, so be powerful, but also be upstanding.

Pluto Quincunx Jupiter

You're on a never ending quest to gain more knowledge. From your point of view the more you know, the more you can understand and the more you understand the more you can enlighten others. Perhaps when it comes to your philosophical mindset, you feel as if you cannot rest until you find a way to penetrate the core meaning of life itself. Therefore when you're engaged in a mind-expanding study, you're looking to form a synopsis of accumulated but seemingly unrelated data and never quite satisfied that everything has been included. Nor are you likely to form an opinion until you have thoroughly researched the background information and checked and rechecked all data. This may seem to others as a lot of work to uncover truths they willingly take for granted, but unlike others you have a need to understand before you accept. Once you do make up your mind, nothing short of God can change it.

Pluto Square Saturn

Tenacious and self-determined, what you achieve in life is done through your own efforts and an ability to persevere through any difficulties. You believe that no matter how bad something gets, nothing lasts forever and must eventually improve. You keep a tight rein on your thoughts and emotions and it's most unlikely that anyone will see you give into an angry outburst. You have the capacity to lead others, but the advancements you receive in life do not happen overnight. Perhaps this is because you feel that what you receive must be earned and you would not feel comfortable were it any other way. The one thing you must not fear is change because change is your teacher. Don't fight it because through it you grow, reform and regenerate yourself. If you refuse to release the old and redirect your path then you will be forced to change on terms other than your own.

VIII. North Node - Life Path Beacon & South Node - Past Life Baggage

Often called the Dragon's Head, the Moon's North Node symbolizes your present journey's 'Growth Point' whereas the Dragon's Tail or South Node represents Past-Life's learning experiences. The house position of the North Node indicates where you need to apply yourself and where your greatest potential for forward movement lies. Aspects to the North Node illuminate personality traits that either progress or stall your quest for enlightenment and spiritual growth. Aspects to the South Node are not included in this report.

The North Node is Retrograde

A Retrograde North Node may indicate that the lessons you're here to learn this time round are being carried forward from several previous lifetimes. To gain a greater understanding, look to text referring to the sign and house position of both the North and South Node, as well any aspects the North Node makes to other planets.

North Node - Aries - 2nd house

You're highly competitive and want to assume a leadership role over others in order to make things happen in life, but you have a problem taking full command. You waffle between the need to dominate others and extreme co-operation to the point of where you lose control over the situation and end up spinning in a circle. Although your comfort zone is group activities it's better for you to apply your creativity to completely personal goals and learn to do things on your own. To achieve happiness in your current life, you must learn how to equally balance your own needs with those of others and call attention to yourself. However do not think to do not rush your growth and understand that the most beautiful of all flowers, the rose comes to blossom slowly.

The South Node in Libra suggests in prior incarnations you leaned towards co-dependency because marriage and partnerships were so deeply rooted in your way of doing things that you constantly viewed yourself through other people's eyes. You did not assert yourself or ask that your needs be met because you did not want to put your security at risk and judged your happiness by the successes or failures of those you bonded with. Although you made great personal sacrifices people took you for granted and did not appreciate your efforts. Now you must exercise personal power and find out who you really are by refusing to yield to the dictates of others and develop a relationship with yourself.

North Node Trine Sun

In essence you're a 'people person' and your cheerful nature endears you to all you meet. Because you're sincere and natural in your dealings with people your popularity is assured. Therefore you may involve yourself in service to your community, politics, neighborhood activities, or charitable organizations. You may at times ignore the more oblivious personal needs of your family, but this not likely an issue for them and they are more than willingly to go out of their way to assist you in achieving your goals. In general you prefer the company of stimulating, creative, people and can count among your friends, important people with significant influence.

North Node Square Mercury

Although you know it's much easier to weather lives off time's stormy seas when the load is shared with a friend, you often shirk social contact by retreating into your own private world. Perhaps you think you can't communicate your thoughts clearly enough or don't know as much as others. However sharing opinions stimulates new ways of thinking and validates your own. If you're shy then you must work to develop social contacts and a comfort zone for interaction. The greatest risk to your overall health is the feeling you're all alone against the world, because isolation and loneliness are greater health risks.

North Node Trine Uranus

You take a rather uncommon approach to life and others may see you as both unconventional and eccentric. You're easily bored, with the hum-drum of daily routine so unpredictable events occurring in your life are more likely to excite you than throw you off your center. You respond to your environment spontaneously and assess a person's character intuitively and quickly. In your desire to share your life experiences with others, sudden friendships that only suit this purpose are formed and just as suddenly ended when your need for them is gone. You have the ability to adapt to new conditions and to seize the opportunity of the moment, so don't be afraid to reach out for the bold and experimental and capitalize on it.

IX. Ego

The Sun rises above frustrating setbacks and carries through the decisions you make as a self-governing individual. The Moon evidences your feelings and experiences the ways others respond to you. Saturn regulates your body's energy and lets you live with the outcome if you don't. These three planets represent separate but equal energies within your 'Ego-Self, and through them you are self-aware. But it may also be necessary to 'wake them up' in order to achieve a balanced persona. All perform in varying degrees of conscious awareness and need to do so harmoniously or a sense of unease is felt within your psyche. Often the lesser planet gets over-worked in an attempt to gain relief, but this puts undue stress on the strongest planet, damping down its effectiveness. The way through this dilemma is to make full use of your strongest function while gaining a better understanding of your lesser function and develop methods to express it without stress.

Primary Ego Planet

Saturn-Moon-Sun

Your primary ego planet is Saturn. This indicates that authorizing and empowering yourself and others as well as body awareness, are your greatest strengths. Although The Moon is secondary you should be able to relate emotionally to yourself and others with relative ease. However as The Sun is the weakest ego planet, self-awareness and the ability to exercise willpower is likely to require further development.

Ego Circuitry

Because a circuit of energy does not exist between the 'Sun, Moon and Saturn', it is most likely that at times your thoughts, feelings and actions are slightly out of sync. However, the absence of a circuit can also work to your advantage because it stimulates a desire to work at personal growth. Ties to your family and its values, may or may not be strong and establishing independence is relatively easy to accomplish.

X. Mirroring Impact

All mirroring text is based on my personal experience as an astrologer and does not describe a person's actual personality. Mirrors are the people who make the biggest imprint on your psyche during childhood and range from family members to teachers and neighbors etc. You take from them the parts of their personality that represent lessons you have come to learn in this lifetime and each child in a family relates differently to mutual mirrors. The sex of a mirror is unimportant as each can model masculine or feminine energy and a combination of both. The possible combinations are numerous and many factors such as planets on low points as well as any aspects to them must be taken into account. Mirroring can only be touched on here by; the Sign Coloring of 'The Sun, Moon and Saturn' in your chart, so the text below is Food for Thought, meant only to shed a light on any issue needing resolution.

A seemingly soft-spoken, good-natured child, you likely talked before you crawled in your quest to make your feelings and needs known. Easily bored you were given to displaying a predilection for in depth explorations of the household. Caregivers had their hands full and quickly learned that a diligent eye was needed to keep you out of harms way. Essentially you were a gregarious quick-witted, child, with a vital need for intense experiences, impatient to know if the grass was greener farther down the block. A lover of knowledge you enjoyed reading books and outings that broadened your horizons. Therefore any activities caregivers supported, that fostered learning, problem solving and social interaction, promoted the development of logical deduction and focused concentration.

Your feminine role models were resourceful and self-reliant. They were frequently preoccupied with their own interests and preferred to paddle their own canoe through rough water rather than ask for help. This may have created a series of difficult ups and downs in their lives. They had an intense dislike for confrontation and little if any tolerance for childish tantrums but very rarely did anger get the better of them. They were sensitive to any form of criticism and tried-and-true methods accompanied high standards and a doctrine that anything worth doing was worth doing right. Success did not come easily to them and they tried to instill in children a belief that only mental discipline welded to initiative would get them ahead in life. You connected with these mirrors to further your ability to independently persevere in the face of adversity.

Your masculine role models were sociable and idealistic. They had the ability to see both sides of a situation and weighed the pros and cons of any decision they made. They placed a strong emphasis on ethical conduct and enjoyed social outings with like minded companions. They had refined aesthetic tastes and a deep appreciation for the finer things in life. Discord upset their sense of equilibrium and their homes were peaceful places decorated to be easy on the eye. Because they were innately fair-minded and gifted in the art of peacemaking they tried to teach children to think before they act and sleep on an important choice before they opted for it. You connected with these mirrors to further develop your ability to interact compatibly with others.

Personal Ray

The four cardinal houses in your chart represent the challenges you have set yourself, so you may grow in personal understanding whereas the Personal Ray blends the physical, mental and emotional variables of your threefold personality into one cohesive function. During childhood, subconscious responses to your environment create a blueprint that will last your entire lifetime, unless through a conscious act of will you redesign it. When your ego is aligned with the cardinal energies, the personal ray functions in holistic union with your soul's purpose.

Ray 4 - Harmony through Conflict

A creative, conscientious person you're committed to connecting pairs of opposites by reconciling their differences and your rallying cry to life is 'I will maintain inner balance'. Innate intuitionism harnesses will to grasp the bigger picture regardless of chaotic input and employ's good judgment. However as you quest for that middle-ground you oscillate between moody pessimism and affirmative self-assurance. No doubt you have an all encompassing worldly view but others may see you as melodramatic when your overactive sense of right and wrong destabilizes your emotional balance.

You want to feel in harmony with the world and yourself but find it hard to tolerate the imperfections of earthly concerns. You pick up graphic images from universal sources and seek to give expression to these lofty ideals. However there is a large discrepancy between the world you ideate and everyday reality. Even so those flashes of intuition open up new perspectives which find expression in creative works. You do prefer to avoid confrontation yet know there are times when only a face-off that airs all viewpoints solves an issue. You're helpful to others and the one thing people truly appreciate about you is your particular gift for analogizing the similarities and differences in a problem in order to resolve it.

XI. Hemispheres & Quadrants

Your horoscope is divided into four quadrants by two main axes called the Cardinal Cross which defines your orientation in time and space. These are the Personal Identity, Personal Expression, Social Identity and Social Expression Quadrants. The Fixed and Mutable Crosses further split these into three houses per quadrant. Cardinality evinces leadership abilities and strength. Fixity evinces consistency and persistence. Mutability evinces deductive reasoning and adaptability. Although they have a common theme these modes express differently by sign and indicate the manner you employ to achieve your goals.

Planet energies in the Social Identity and Social Expression Quadrants motivate you to seek recognition for achievement and express individuality. In the Personal Identity and Personal Expression Quadrants planet energies express internally and often stay enmeshed in learned behaviors. On the Personal -I-Side planet energies initiate action and direct you to meet your personal needs, whereas planet energies on the Social - You-Side are more reactive and direct you to also meet the needs of others. An emphasis of planet energies in any zone shows a strong focus towards living life from that perspective.

Each cross is made up of one Fire, Earth, Air and Water element, the same four elements that comprise our earth. They represent your physical nature and psychological makeup. Fire is your desire for living and the force that animates you to assert your will or 'Spirit'. It is that in you which is positive, creative, idealistic, courageous and intuitive as against reasoning. Earth comprehends physical reality and sensation. It is that in you which needs material security, physical pleasure and social position. Air is your desire to live in a principled, logical, civilized manner. It is that in you which objectifies, rationalizes, invents, communicates and co-operates with others. Water comprehends feeling emotions and expresses 'soul quality'. It is that in you which is compassionate, sensitive, protective, nurturing and expresses concern for human values.

Worldly View

You swing like a pendulum in perpetual motion caught somewhere between alternating states of dependency and self-reliance. Because you need and want to make a difference you invest time and energy publicly. Yet when you really get involved in worldly issues, you battle or cede to an equally strong desire to retreat into a hermitage and let the world pass you by. When you do retreat, it's not long before the desire to get back out there and make a difference becomes a burning need, then the pressure builds and the cycle repeats. There is no doubt these active - reactive sides of your personality can make it more difficult to establish independence, but on the plus side you are gaining a deeper understanding of global concerns.

Introspective and private, you view life as a process of discovery and you're life choices are made to suit yourself not others. Via the process of inner searching and an understanding of your own motives, you learn to interpret the motives of others. Your personal approach to life and the familiar ebb and flow of daily routines add to your over-all sense of security and although you may remain unaware of the fact, your self-assured composure makes an impact on others. To center and recharge your batteries spend some quiet time alone each day.

Relating To The Collective

You're a self-motivated, assertive person and prefer to pursue visions of your own design rather than listen to the dictums of others. Your entrepreneurial spirit puts others on notice that you handle your own affairs and prefer to 'Captain your own Ship though life'. Therefore the freedom to self-express is a life requirement and the key to your personal happiness. Any tendency to become overly focused on goals, or a lack of concern for the rights of others must be addressed. On the other hand you may find contentment behind the scenes, working to aid others on their path. In search of a deeper meaning to existence you may also want to retreat within yourself, and should this be the case, then more effort will be needed to maintain an independent lifestyle and achieve worldly success.

Walking To The Beat Of Your Own Drum

Reacting positively to any condition or environment and comfortable in any role life asks of you comes naturally. While you're not a person seeking undue control of things, you can be counted on if the need arises to calmly take charge. You're very adaptable and as much at home with anything new and untried as with all things familiar. Seeking to take no more from life than you are willing to put back in, you balance your energy intake and output. Innate objectivity keeps you from being boxed into a singular perspective and you express yourself with both mental and emotional clarity. You're a master at balancing multiple faucets of life, but to successfully achieve goals, mental self-discipline is a must. Avoid letting your mind dwell on projects that you're not actively involved in, and center your attention in the 'here and now'.

Going For The Gold

You're perfectly content to go with the flow and have a closet full of different personas that give you the advantage of adapting to any situation at a moment's notice. Even though you're extremely flexible, witty, empathetic and sharp as a tack you do get frustrated when life is in a constant state of flux. Quite possibly you're also highly intuitive and capable of tuning into the underlying ambience of any scene. You believe in fair play for all and sharing what you learn is your joy in life. Although you're ever at the ready to enthusiastically reach out a helping hand to others, you do need to curb your tendency to promise more than you can deliver.

Charismatic Presence

You're just as much at home initiating action as dealing with anything routine. Getting stuck in a rut doesn't occur to you, nor does playing an expected role become boring. If you feel you're not moving forward, you instinctively seek to make things happen. If you find that life is moving too fast, you naturally slow down. Of course, there may be times when you miss the nuances of a strong-willed person and the dramas that others project may also go right over your head. However, by not viewing the world through a lens of one particular color, you can read most situations objectively.

Stressed Planets

Cuspal Planets: A planet situated just past the cusp may express energy through displays of status seeking behaviour and will be instantly noticed. However the collective may not respond favorably and keeping the energy expression in check will take an act of concentrated willpower. There is also another complex conundrum because a cuspal planet will attempt to fully embody the energies contained within both the houses divided by that particular cusp.

Balance Point Planets: A planet situated on or near the B.P. does not demand that you put more into the outside world than you are capable of giving. However, it will still require you to consciously control its energy in order that it may be intelligently focused and made productive.

Low Point Planets: A planet situated on or near the L.P. works on inner levels and there may be difficulty expressing its energy into the environment. Generally a time of learning and an act of will are needed to fully apply its energy externally.

Shadow Planets: Much like a mountain climber halted a few steps short of a mountain's peak, a planet approaching, but just short of a house cusp is in a stressed position. This faucet of your personality will want to be noticed and may attempt to attract attention through displays of status seeking behaviour. However it's likely that these exhibits will be frowned on or outright rejected by the collective. Only committed effort, applied gradually over an extended period of time will gain this planet's energy full recognition from the collective and it's pointless to attempt to have it lauded before you can express its function without rejection.

XII. Quadrant 1 - Unconscious I & Personal Identity - Imaging

From the moment of your birth until you reach age 18, your main life focus is on learning how to fully embrace and express 'The Real You'. However, self-preservation also requires you to relate harmoniously to your environment and the people within it. Planetary energies in this quadrant want to be noticed and seek to make an 'Impact on the Collective'. Therefore behaviour here is often impulsive and reactive with little if any thought for outcomes. In this respect in adulthood you need to ask yourself; is my survival really threatened or am I reacting from genetic/emotional patterns without any thought of consequence? Experience will be your teacher as you listen to your intuition and question the source of your instinctive motives and responses. If you have planets in this quadrant, remember that in order to be in a position to bring about any improvements within 'the Collective' you must direct your innovative, entrepreneurial energies towards it.

1 Side - Encounter Axis - 1st House Cusp - The Ascendant

During the first years of life you are fully open to and easily impressed by sense experiences coming from within your environment. In adulthood recalling events before the age of 2 to mind with any clarity is next to impossible. It is not until between the 2nd and 4th year of life that you see yourself as a person separate from your parents and siblings. As such the security, sustenance and affection, provided or lacking during this time impact your present self-image for ill or good. In this zone planet energies conjuncted by the age point are difficult to incorporate and leave a deep subconscious imprint. Events occurring during this phase of your life, do in one way or another, affect your entire outlook towards both yourself and others.

At the Ascendant, when having left the comfort and safety of your Mother's womb, you birthed into physical existence and took your first independent breath. This first contact with life is the 'EGO POINT', or exact degree of the Zodiac Sign Rising over the eastern horizon at the precise moment of your birth. It is specifically dependant on the exact time and latitude of the actual place of your birth. It symbolizes that a unique individual/spirit has incarnated into a particular universal energy pattern, at a specific moment in time. It is the channel through which you comprehend your environment. It is the focus you bring into life. You dream life up, chose your birth time and then enact your dream. The labyrinth is of your own design, freely entered and although at times you may feel lost, it is also your way out.

While any planets in this region do to some extent define you they may also describe the effect your birth had on others. Information regarding your birth experience, and events from the environment that colored your perception of existence, and influenced the way you function as an adult is gleaned from this domain. If there was childhood trauma, these contact points often signify the event and the age it happened. Planetary energy's located in the First House make a very deep impact on your psyche. By co-relating data from this stage of life with other parts of your birth-chart, it is possible to reach a deeper understanding of how you were impacted by your early childhood circumstances and environment. - 1st House Questions: What type of first impression do you make? How do you come to your own defense? How do you respond to change? How do you begin new projects?

Ascendant in Capricorn

Primal structured energy and an innate knowing that to fulfill life's aspirations, you must responsibly apply yourself, drives your perseverance. You believe in giving an honest days work for an honest day's pay, and take responsibility seriously. A nagging sense that you were meant to achieve something important also accompanies your path in life. Therefore with an eye on promotion and determined fortitude you diligently apply yourself, in pursuit of success. You want to be noticed and respected for your efforts, but for the greater good of a project you will work humbly behind the scene.

Although you're socially oriented you're quite reserved in unfamiliar or formal gatherings but when you find your footing your impassive veneer dissolves, unmasking your seldom seen sensitive side. You're strongly attached to home and family, feel duty bound to protect and nurture them and prefer to guard your privacy from prying eyes. In a secure setting, with no fear of letting down your guard, any crafting or culinary skills are comfortably displayed. You have a soft spot for animals and pets may abound as well. In as much as you forge your destiny in the material world, you do need and appreciate quiet moments of down time away from its constant hustle and bustle.

The First House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your persona expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign coloring your Ascendant and the way in which others regard you is generally not a major issue for you. To gain a deeper understanding of how you portray yourself to others in order to impress them and gain recognition look to the interpretations on the Sun and Mars as well as any aspects they form to other planets.

Saturn in Aquarius

Your sights are focused on upholding the value structures of your peer group and your opinions reflect those of the people you admire. Still, you're defensive about human rights and see rules as a means of curbing freedom. Although you can appear to others as coldly aloof and detached from the normal traumas of life, you're humane in nature and will assist anyone who asks your aid. You relate well to others and can rally them to support a cause as long as your personal independence is not compromised, but you will only endorse ideas that can be realized immediately. However, your greatest fear is having your self-expression limited and even when you disagree with those in authority you usually comply if only passively-aggressively.

You're focused on resolving security issues and ambitious for personal success. However when it seems that obstacles block your progress at every turn, only rarely do you let your temper do you in. Perhaps the reason you hold back lies in your dislike of confrontation and a reluctance to assertively put yourself forward. You're also self-directed a fact that makes it difficult to work 'hand in glove' with others and places limitations on your options. Still, people know and respect your composure and rational so you're far better prepared for success than you credit yourself with. Fear of failure can also accompany the success you quest for, so don't take yourself so seriously and validate your own 'okay-ness'.

31 mos. - Age Point at - 1st house Balance Point.

Fortified with a vague understanding of who you were, you took your first bold steps to assert independence and establish personal boundaries. Although uncertain of exactly what your rights were, you demand they be respected and by so doing learned you must also respect the rights of others. When your tentative boundaries were violated, you responded by stubbornly planting your feet in a firm defiant stance and refused to 'toe the line'. Unfortunately this is also where your parents might have broken your will, by physically enforcing compliance to their criteria. If for example you had to tolerate unwanted hugs and kisses or inappropriate touching took place, as an adult you may have problems with body image and not know where to draw a line in your own defense.

3 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 1st House Low Point.

Although the difference between men and women was not yet crystal clear, you identified sexually with your same sex parent. Unprompted by them you formed your first peer relationships and laid the foundations for interrelating socially. Physical changes such as losing baby teeth took place and you began to develop a conscience as you reached to incorporate the qualities of the second phase of life.

Age 6 - AP at 2nd House Cusp - Possession Axis

You entered this phase of life fully aware of your distinct individuality with a need to know what was personally yours and what was not. Old broken toys took on a new meaning and you guarded them like precious treasures. The need to define things as personally yours related to your sense of worth and played a very important part in determining your present attitude towards ownership today. The value of said item was not of import here, only that your right to keep or dispose of a of cherished prize was honored. Any violation of rights during this phase may have lead you to develop an excessive need to acquire or possess more in order to feel secure. Overindulgence in food is also a common compensatory response.

Environment - House 2

Developing and understanding values is the theme of this house. You strive to protect yourself from, injury or an untimely demise. To some extent property is associated with your sense of worth. Effort is necessary for monetary gain and the way others define your capabilities effects your ability to acquire material goods. Possessions are things you own, but these are not limited to mere material affluence. You own your emotions, abilities, needs and wants. Over time you come to define talents such as, an inquiring mind, a flair for writing or artistic talent, as possessions, which give substance to your Ego-Identity. - 2nd House Questions: What do you value and why do you value it? What can you truly own and why do you want to own it? Do you love and value yourself ?

I Side - Possession Axis in Pisces

Your personal value system hinges on your ability to help others and trust that the universe will always provide. Managing financial affairs is not your strong suit as you're somewhat detached to both money and possessions. You understand the value of intangibles such as intellectual property and some of your most cherished possessions are concepts. As long as you're not infringing on their rights you expect people to respect yours and once you have decided on a course of action, seldom do you change your mind. You value honesty, stand behind your word once given and don't hesitate to defend the truisms you embrace. You want money to make money so seek the advice of a respected advisor for sound investments based on research. Nonetheless there will be ups and downs in your assets.

The Second House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your values express largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp and are fairly well integrated into your overall personality. That doesn't mean that outside influences won't affect you, only that an issue is likely to be less intense and more easily overcome. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you honor yourself and meet your needs look to the interpretations on Venus as well as any aspects it forms to other planets.

8 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 2nd House Balance Point.

Your belief in fairy-tales such as the Easter Bunny and Santa Clause died as a new perception of reality dawned. You saw that just as childhood illusions had proven untrue, once precious, treasures broke and no permanent security was gained by continuing to cling to them. You respected the property rights of others and expected to be treated in kind. You turned away from unrealistic expectations in search of a new way to build a secure foundation within your environment.

9 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 2nd House Low Point.

Although still pre-pubic, your body began to change and the opposite sex looked interesting, albeit it was still somewhat of a mystery. Education took center stage as your need to know became an urge to satisfy and comprehend, through observation and first hand experiences. You willingly, learned without the assistance of others and incorporated the most information you ever will in such a short span of time.

Age 12 - AP at 3rd House Cusp - Thinking Axis

As you entered this phase of life puberty was in full bloom and your sexual development went into high gear. Hormones raged and confusing feelings surfaced for that mysterious opposite sex. The family home was no longer the exclusive domain where you shared your innermost thoughts and feelings. Intimate friendships formed as you fully bonded with your peer group. Although you and your peers were still very much dependant on the nurture and support of your families, you wanted to be seen as different from them. Ergo you embraced a unique peer identity, through unusual styles of clothing, hair and speech.

Environment - House 3

Accurately processing objective data is the theme of this house. You quest for public knowledge and share it with others. You learn through experiences and observation, to process information correctly. You develop the clinical left brain logic function and forge a coding system of serviceable life-principles. Your mind is powerful, quick and dexterous. Some responses are well-thought out, others nearly automatic. - 3rd House Questions: Are you both a listener and a conversationalist? Do you accept or question data? How tightly shackled are you to what you were taught?

I Side - Thinking Axis in Aries

The way you think and interact with others is influenced by your need for a fast response to any situation. Mentally aggressive you welcome new knowledge and are ever at the ready with an answer to a question. You are skilled at phrasing barbs as clever comebacks, a knack that makes it difficult for others to take you to task over them. Although you are good at and love a good debate, you need physical outlets to temper aggravated, impatient behaviors that lead to arguments through verbal outbursts. In general inclinations to overemphasize a point can create strain in relationships and in particular daily interaction with relatives and neighbors.

The Third House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your ability to communicate and acquire knowledge expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp and you rarely need to give much thought to these functions. For a deeper understanding of the manner in which you process data and impart it to others look to the interpretations on Mercury as well as any aspects it forms to other planets.

Moon in Taurus

Your loyalty to family is unparalleled. Although you usually guard your tongue from the outsider who thinks to criticize them for they will surely feel your wrath. Once you've formed an opinion you seldom alter it and you have a habit of laying down the law to others. You associate emotional stability with material worth and your sense of self is easily shaken by any change to your financial base. You need to know that 'energy always follows thought' and visualizing being engulfed in abundance is better than focusing on loss.

An innate need for self-analysis, has familiarized you with people's underlying motives, but your emotional bias can over-ride your logic. One minute you're quite composed, the next you're in a state of flux and depending on how you feel you interpret things within the same sphere differently. Although a personal involvement with people from different walks of life is part of your destiny, remember correct information and logical insight are needed when choosing friends. You are highly adaptable so when you connect with someone be aware that you may try to remold yourself to accommodate them.

Neptune in Taurus

You are part of an idealistic generation seeking to preserve traditional principles and make practical use of spiritual concepts. Your peer group does not react rashly to worldly concerns because it knows that impromptu actions affect humanity on a global scale. As a gestalt of people equal in race and creed, but ethnically different individually, your generation promotes a holistic 'get back to basics' movement and hopes to solve the issue of world hunger and poverty. You and your contemporaries know that personal security is relative to the security of others and are prepared to lobby for your beliefs. Your peer generation understands the interconnectedness of life on this planet and sees itself as a part of this greater whole.

Ideological, inventive and unmistakably inspired you soak up knowledge like a sponge absorbing water and yet you feel you never know enough. Your visual perception is quite pronounced and your uncanny insight lets you read the subtle undercurrents in your surroundings and sense the hidden nuances in a verbal exchange. Your concept of reality is not the norm and you tend towards overly critical self-judgment and undervaluing your talents which also undermines your self-esteem. You problem-solve with relative ease but a lack of concern for material gain can make it difficult to promote your skills in a world of challenge and competition. Still, others will seek out your aid when in need of advice and comfort even if it's hard for them to relate to you.

Pluto in Taurus

You belong to a generation experiencing a major shift in social values which until now had been one where the 'opulence of the haves' was in stark contrast to the 'poverty of the have nots'. With the industrial revolution at a peak it can now apply innovative methods to increase food production and assert its right to improve the overall standard of living for society in general rather than provide the good life for only a select few. Your generation is very concerned with land and is taking a passionate stance towards conserving its natural resources and defending its national boundaries. It stands against the unjust devaluation of any person and will totally alter, if not completely destroy any restraints or limitations placed on personal acquisition. You then are a member of a powerful generation that can impact the global village by creating an environment capable of sustaining the food production required to feed it.

Your perceptive ability is well developed and it may come as a shock to people when they realize you can instantly take their measure and accurately understand their motives. A persuasive communicator you express your opinions bluntly and with passion but people should not ask personal disclosure of you because exposing yourself renders you vulnerable to their critiques. To really uncover your true essence a person must first build a bridge of trust and convince you to unlock the door to the hidden facets of your persona. You're on a life long search for that something that will give meaning to your life and have a talent for getting to the bottom of things. Once formed you're also exceptionally adept at convincing others to adopt your opinions.

Having established commonality with your peer group, you set about being seen as a unique individual, however you were still in the process of discovering who you were. Ever watchful parents took note of this fact and just as you were about to soar like a bird on its first flight, your wings got clipped. You needed to identify with your peer group and yet remain loyal to the beliefs and customs of your family. These conflicting viewpoints caused a great deal of inner stress as you struggled to grasp and embrace differing views towards life and morals. The more attached your parents were to their beliefs, standards and cultural mores, the greater the pressure there was to conform to their dictums. Feelings of being misunderstood, in this phase of life can still bring about states of depression, in adult life.

Neptune is Conjunct the Balance Point House 3:

15yrs. 9mos. - Age Point at - 3rd House Low Point.

Seasoned by an identity crisis you sought broader connections as your thinking patterns were enhanced with the maturation of abstract thought. The knowledge you acquired had a broader scope and was related to the essentials you needed to sustain an independent lifestyle. You wanted freedom from parental constraints and finding the ways and means to achieve it was your main concern. You developed a rudimentary philosophy towards life in general, saw the world in a different political light and may even have felt a desire change it. To some degree your thinking became enmeshed with feeling, as you moved towards incorporating the qualities of the fourth phase of life.

XIII. Quadrant-2 Unconscious You & Personal Expression - Interacting

Over the next 18th years your focus shifts to 'Impressing the Collective' rather than just impacting it. You begin to comprehend the 'Grand Scheme' and understand the distinctive role you are meant to play out within it. In order that you may touch base with and fully attune to the 'Collective', planetary energies here, aid you in relating so you may truly express your own uniqueness. To fully achieve this you need to live in the moment of 'Now' and deal with the day to day challenges that are inherent in the very process of existence. Through the careful analysis of responsive behaviors, critical insight and personal growth can be gained. When you understand this process you will relate to people from all walks of life and 'Impress the Collective' by applying your discerning, energies to bettering the overall conditions within it.

Age 18 - AP at 4th House Cusp - Individuality Axis

As you entered this phase of life you saw your parents in a new light and took the final steps towards maturity. No longer were they the stodgy, elder citizens you once thought them to be. In the best of circumstances, they welcomed your passage into adulthood and your relationship with them took on the added flavor of friendship. You wanted to earn your own money and spend it as you saw fit. You needed the freedom to choose your friends and the privacy to express yourself, without every word and action being scrutinized by over-protective parents. If you could not manage this feat while remaining in the family home, you took the necessary measures to go on your own. It is not unusual for men and women to marry to achieve independence when parents are not supportive of bachelor hood.

Environment - House 4

Understanding nurture is the theme of this house. You quest for attunement' and fulfill your 'inner-child's needs'. You give and receive love, in a safe, meaningful interchange. You develop the clinical right brain intuitive emotive function and forge a coding system of emotional responses. Family values and cultural heritage shape your reactions and define the way you seek support and acceptance. A sense of belonging is what makes a home and you acquire your own private niche to comfortably integrate all that influenced you during childhood. - 4th House Questions: What are your family's traditions and values and will you still be loved if you defy them? How do you nurture yourself? What do you need to feel secure?

I Side - Individuality Axis in Taurus

Your home is your bastion of security from the world. Owning a piece of land where you can put down roots increases your sense of worth so likely you will try to achieve this goal. This is where you express your creativity and status so it must be attractive and if possible it's paid for and well insured. If not, then much of your effort is focused on that goal. Feeling secure in an easygoing environment and being sustained by a caring family enhances and enriches the overall pattern of your life. You enjoy its comforts and love to socialize with relatives and friends. You take special pride in beautifying your surroundings so art will be apparent and music will often be heard over the sounds of laughter that fill the air.

The Fourth House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your attitude towards nurture expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp. Kith and kin are not likely to be overly demanding of either your time or energy and major upsets should be easy to resolve. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you deal with security issues and nourish yourself look to the interpretations on the Moon and Saturn as well as any aspects they form to other planets.

20 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 4th House Balance Point.

A lack of employment or a need for educational funding may necessitate that you rely on the family to insure your daily sustenance. However any forced compliance to outdated limits on your personal freedom is difficult if not impossible to comply with. Rooming with a friend and eating out of a can if necessary may be the choice you make. Leaving your childhood home is either an amicable occasion complete with a family celebration, or a painful door-slammng event. The latter may close the door to all you hold dear or cause lifetime rifts. In spite of drawbacks or delays you sally forth on your journey.

21 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 4th House Low Point.

By now your parents are more or less resigned to the fact that their attempt to mold you into a carbon-copy of themselves has failed. Love and marriage is on your horizon or an accomplished feat. Quite possibly you have children of your own to raise. Your focus is on carving out a personal niche and achieving social status. You are fully in charge of your life and eager to make a personal impact on the world as you move towards incorporating the qualities of the fifth phase of life.

Age 24 - AP at 5th House Cusp - Relationship Axis

The hustle and bustle of the world compels you to focus on performance and achievement. You jostle aggressively with competitors to establish your career and find a loving life-mate. Success is the name of your game. Hard knocks, are both taken and given as part of the learning process. You measure your capabilities against reality and consciously discover your limitations. In the process a distinct behavior pattern emerges, one you carry throughout the remainder of your life. Others identify this pattern as exclusively yours. It is based on your specific style of facial expressions, speech, hand gestures, laughter, deportment and dress.

Environment - House 5

The ability to 'self-express' is the theme of this house. You convey your individuality by embracing the creative force within you. You give credence to your talents and attributes by testing them out in society. Risks to prove your mettle, are willingly taken and you promote yourself to publicly affirm your worth. You function your 'inner child's need to play and create a life in which you experience joy in living. You perceive your efforts as successes or failures, accept both acclaim and rejection and learn to win or lose with the same amount of grace. - 5th House Questions: Are you accepted for who you are? What are your talents? How do you get noticed? What emotional release suits you best?

You Side - Relationship Axis in Gemini

You seldom lack companionship and your social life may be a whirlwind of activities. You're innately ingenious and your artistic flair lets you express yourself in a myriad of creative ways. You take an intellectual approach to intimacy and communication is what sparks your flame so courtship for you is more a time of disclosure before you commit to a bonded relationship. Parenting may not be the road you choose to travel but if you do have children, you will not bind them closely to you. You will however; love them, lavish them with the best education you can afford, expect them to become accomplished, take pride in their achievements and wish them well on their way out the door.

The Fifth House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your attitude towards creative expression expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp. You're overall character is fairly balanced so issues of creative self-expression or the ability to enjoy life are not likely to present a problem. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you gain recognition for achievement look to the interpretations on the Sun and aspects it makes to other planets.

26 yrs, 5 mos.- Age Point at - 5th House Balance Point.

The ladder of success is turning out to be harder to climb than you first expected and the rewards you are receiving less than those you seek. Home and work both vie for your attention and time. There is pressure to expend equal energy on both. Marriage or the single-life may not be the state of bliss you dreamed of. You are faced with finding a more balanced approach to life. Expectations of yourself and others need tailoring to fit your new reality to stabilize the situation. If you do not achieve this, it is most unlikely the environment will support your old beliefs. Family breakdown and a loss of prestige may well be an event on the horizon.

27 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 5th House Low Point.

You test your mettle against others and acquire knowledge needed to hold your ground against all comers. Fortified by this new perspective you take strategic risks on success by giving it everything you've got. Your achievements are judged accordingly and either rejected or publicly acclaimed by others. In either case a validation of your performance is witnessed. You come to understand that professional status and reputation are based on your ability to provide a service to others as you move towards incorporating the qualities of the sixth phase of life.

Age 30 - AP at 6th House Cusp - Existence Axis

You have something to offer the world and want to find the niche where you can comfortably provide it. Attaining suitable employment is a play between your skills and possibilities. You place a realistic value on your services because not doing so means scraping by. You seek a balance in order that you may serve the needs of others as equitably as they serve yours. You know that by maintaining a beneficial standard of health and stress free living conditions, you can expend your energy more efficiently.

Environment - House 6

Responsible service is the theme of this house. You understand the interrelatedness of 'mind and body'. You optimize physical performance and selectively choose knowledge you can incorporate into the daily routines of living. You provide services in a responsible, meaningful manner and further yourself through serving others. Left brain function reduces matters into separate components that clearly define you in terms of what you are versus what you're not. You learn to cope in the face of adversity and manage yourself in a manner that guarantees you a vital existence. - 6th House Questions: Why are diet, fitness and hygiene important? How do you mollify feelings of loneliness? How can you improve yourself?

You Side - Existence Axis in Cancer

Being of service to others is of paramount importance to you and it's easy for you to become very emotionally involved in your work. However your quest to assure the needs of others are met, if taken to the extreme adversely affects your own mental and physical health. You don't adapt to changes in the workplace easily and any uncertainty with regard to job security affects your overall health as well. You get on well with workmates but you can also take on their worries and mother them by doing more than your fair share of the workload in order to relieve them of their burdens. You're highly susceptible to any discord around you so it's most important that you leave the office affairs at the office when your workday ends and take time to relax and unwind.

The Sixth House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your attitude towards health and service expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp. Health and work-related issues are not likely to be a predominant concern, but of course outside influences can upset this balance, forcing you to devote more time and energy to these parts of your life. However most issues will be easier to resolve and of shorter duration. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you serve yourself and others look to the interpretations on Mercury and aspects it makes to other planets.

Mercury in Cancer

You have an excellent memory and can recall anything you learn in full detail. Although you're intelligent, your thinking process is influenced by intuitive, responsiveness and you are adept at conveying your thoughts in non-verbal ways. You dislike radical ideas and prefer to concentrate your attention on things known and familiar. Because you are also amenable to appeals that affect you emotionally it's hard for you to hold firm to the decisions you make.

Your mental focus and self-control are well-developed but when you are emotionally shaken you can't see life objectively so don't make major decisions when you are upset.

You're concerned with developing mental dexterity as understanding how things work lets you problem solve and earn a decent income. You make the most of your potential and enjoy any work or pastimes that also excite your mind. Your primary focus is maintaining the health and well-being of your mind and body and know a positive self-image affirms it. You stay informed about new developments in your career because you want to develop expertise in your specific field. You are fully aware that when you provide the best possible service to others, you also serve yourself.

Venus in Cancer

Your desires in life are fairly basic; refuge from the rat-race, shelter to keep you safe and warm and the goodness 'Mother Earth' provides for yourself and loved ones. Of course you want more from life than that, but those things are absolutely necessary for you to feel secure within yourself. You have a great need for love and friendship and when you commit to someone you do so heart and soul. You want your relationships to last a life time and with faithful, devotion, you hold nothing back and apply yourself to achieving this goal.

You're occupied with the running of workaday affairs and enjoy living in sync with organized routines. You strive for harmony in all you do because physical fitness and a healthy mind-set are important factors in your life. You need to be appreciated by those you serve and work best in a refined environment. You're also sensitive to people's needs and more often than not you yield to their requests unless it violates your principles. However, when you simply knuckle under, you limit your ability to succeed by appearing weak so remember, peace at any price is much to high a price to pay and sometimes you really must rock the boat.

32 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 6th House Balance Point.

Major and minor reversals of circumstance may occur. If you allow it, refusals, cancellations and frustrations undermine your self-respect and belief in your capabilities. You are aware that the world does not wait on those who falter here. Any illusory dreams you birthed through naive thoughts have become a sobering reality as they fail to materialize. Feelings of I'm not good enough and 'no one needs me', may lead to a defensive stance, or projecting the blame on others. This is the time to abandon all unrealistic expectations. This is the time to set your sites on achievable goals suited to your personality.

Mercury is Conjunct the Balance Point House 6:

33 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 6th House Low Point.

Feelings of despair have passed and a new orientation to life turns you towards embracing workable goals. Although these come with their own set of problems and may take longer to realize the courage to apply yourself has returned. You are content in the knowledge that you made life suitable choices that bolster your progresses. All pretense is gone as you let the chips fall where they may and move towards incorporating the qualities of the seventh phase of life.

Venus is Conjunct the Low Point House 6:

XIV. Quadrant 3 - Conscious You & Social Identity - Voicing

At the age of 36 your focus is still on 'Impressing the Collective' but now you also want to empathize with it by accurately interpreting the needs within it. Planetary energies here, seek to meet your personal needs while also mediating the needs of others in a collective context. Therefore it is important to achieve an objective outlook and acknowledge that other people's realities are just as valid as your own. You learn to do this through the exchange of ideas, thinking outside the box and by perceiving as many possibilities and needs as is feasible for you to do so. Once you have embraced this process you can raise a voice worth listening to, and share your comprehensive, enlightened wisdom with 'the Collective'.

Age 36 - AP at 7th House Cusp - Encounter Axis

The Turning Point at the Descendant, signifies a period of readjustment. These are the most successful years of life. Your focus turns to clarifying goals, self perception, physical reality and outward expression. Others recognize and fully accept you as you are and you look for opportunities that embody the qualities of your inner self. You meet and make firm commitments to others. In this phase of expanded awareness you may also opt for a career change, drop current affiliations and accommodate only yourself. If you have followed in the footsteps of a parental professional such as a lawyer, but really wanted to be a travel agent, you might throw in the towel and become one.

Environment - House 7

Developing and understanding intimacy is the theme of this house. You express affection and develop deep personal relationships. You learn to trust and the meaning of equality. You come together in familiarity with another equal but separate 'I' to create a balanced, loving 'We' while maintaining your individuality. In this environment of mutual acceptance and respect you experience yourself subjectively. As you cooperate with and relate to these people they verify your self-worth and you find joy in being who you are. - 7th House Questions: Why did you choose this relationship? Do you place overmuch importance on other people? Is your role based on inter-dependence or co-dependent neediness?

You Side - Encounter Axis in Cancer

You form a very deep emotional attachment to your marriage partner and being mothered by and mothering your partner is one of the ways you feel a bonded relationship should work. However in your need to feel secure you seek to bind them tightly to you and can become so obsessive about protecting them from harm that you attempt to control their every choice in life. When they pull away from you, you're shocked and devastated because you truly meant no harm. Therefore lasting success in this area is dependent on you finding a mate who shares the same dreams regarding home and family and having the intestinal-fortitude to forego attaching yourself to their apron strings.

The Seventh House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your attitude towards relationships expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp. This does not mean you're likely to spend your life alone but rather that the relationships you form will be less plagued by the communication issues commonly associated with relating. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you interrelate with others look to the interpretations on Venus and the aspects it makes to other planets.

Sun in Leo

Perceiving your genuine self is a key thread that touches all you do and are. How do I discover the uniqueness that is "me" and effectively convey this to others are questions you ask. Therefore any knowledge that aids you in this feat is willingly accepted. You want to actualize innate personality traits and seek to remodel yourself to your own way of living rather than social traditions and peer-group pressures. You desire others to act as mirrors and support your drive to develop these traits, therefore committed partnerships will likely be a key factor in your life.

Determined to travel your own path through life you resist any imposition to alter it. What people perceive as a stubborn outlook, you see as consistency and an ability to fully dedicate yourself to a goal. You are warm in love and human sympathy and your generosity is boundless. You support and respect those who give in kind and there is nothing you won't do for a friend. You don't give up on people easily, but if a friendship does go south, you don't hold a grudge. When left to pursue your uniquely, creative course you're friendly, loving and content with your lot in life.

Uranus in Leo

Highly ingenious and independent, your name-tag reads 'I am my own authority'. You feel that demands for twenty-four-seven, togetherness limit you and keep most relationships at a platonic level. You're drawn to people who stimulate, excite and challenge you. However someone taken, or classified as 'off limits' may appeal to you the most because your freedom is of more import than intimacy and commitment to a bonded lifestyle is something to be avoided at all costs. Still, one-on-one relatedness is where you discover what it is that separates you from the crowd and defines you as unique. If you do choose to form an intimate union your partner will also be your friend and like yourself interested in and supportive of independent self-expression.

You're peer group seeks to gain greater freedom for creative self-expression. You're forthright in your dealings with others and want to make your mark on the world on your own terms. Because you seek recognition, you may even enjoy projecting the image of a free spirited eccentric. You accept a person's right to express their sexual orientation and may yourself be willing to cohabit in an open or alternative relationship. However, you also want to expand your personal power and as you're firm in your beliefs you refuse to brook any interference into your approach to life. Still, you must remember to exercise self-discipline because contempt for authority will keep you from reaching your goals as quickly as you wish too.

38 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 7th House Balance Point.

Your new realization of self can also evoke a rejection response in a significant other. If you have been living under a spell you will find this to be a very painful emotional time as grand illusions come crashing down. Responsibilities to others can feel like burdens and an intimate relationship deepens or collapses. You weather this time, through loving, honest communication and your willingness to honor individual needs, or you separate. Give your partner time to adjust to your changes and if need be seek the aid of a professional counselor. Otherwise the life you worked so hard to build together will cease to have meaning.

39 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 7th House Low Point.

The midpoint on your journey is passed and the first vestiges of aging are visible. You may hide these from the prying eyes of others through eye-tucks, lipo-suction, added hair-pieces or under layers of makeup. Nevertheless your body takes note and ever so slightly changes its responses. To avoid the facts and stall the process you may throw yourself into strenuous activities such as jogging, cycling and fad diets. This is of no avail. Your parents are elder citizens and your children are growing up. Your persona is now complete as you move towards incorporating the qualities of the eighth phase of life.

Age 42 - AP at 8th House Cusp - Possession Axis

Children are becoming independent individuals. They don't require the same amount of support and you may no longer be the light that guides their path. Liberated from these responsibilities you discover a new sense of freedom as energy and finances are given to other pastimes. Men and women who remained at home to raise their children may return to the work force or invest more time on the green perfecting their golf skills. You ask yourself, what is the meaning of life and begin to search for answers.

Environment - House 8

Transforming yourself is the theme of this house. You eliminate or regenerate any superfluous relationship, possession or ideology that no longer defines you or gives meaning to your existence. You transform your 'inner self' by transmuting outmoded values, mannerisms and behaviors. You become more than you were and all that you are by freeing trapped energy and consciously incorporate your 'Shadow-Self' into your Psyche. You accept and acquire from others, exert yourself in order to exist and surrender to awareness of your own mortality. Endings and new beginnings are part of your daily life and sex, death and rebirth are on the same level playing field. - 8th House Questions: What secrets do you keep and why? Do you willingly release or stubbornly hold onto outmoded behaviors?

You Side - Possession Axis in Virgo

You're a competent money manager so when you think to invest funds you're likely to choose blue-chip stock or bonds that can safely guarantee you a good return over time. Because this prudent if somewhat cautious approach also applies to the resources of others quite possibly you're also a first-class financial consultant. However you may constrain family luxuries and be highly critical of the way joint finances are managed. You're selective and extremely fastidious when it comes to sexual intimacy, so you're not likely to jump the bones of any Tom, Dick / Jane or Mary you meet at the local watering hole. You take every step to protect yourself from a health disaster so a potential partner must pass a rigorous going-over before they ever see your parlor.

The Eighth House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your attitude towards sexual expression and fiscal gain expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp. You will still enjoy a rewarding sex life and experience a certain amount of instability but these matters are not likely to be all consuming or difficult to handle. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you conduct yourself in intimate relationships and manage your money look to the interpretations on Mars and Pluto and the aspects they makes to other planets.

44 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 8th House Balance Point.

In an attempt to postpone the aging process you may fight against physical changes by creating a public facade of youthfulness. Your children may have left the nest and the death of a beloved parent is not an uncommon event during this time as well. You may have an affair or opt to leave a long term relationship. Perhaps for the first time, the security needed to sustain you in old age is an issue and you are working to resolve it. Caught somewhere between the desire to remain young and vigorous and the need to let life take its course you take note that this is not a passing phase and come to grips with the changes aging brings.

45 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 8th House Low Point.

You adapt to thinking patterns and seek a renewed approach to spirituality. You understand that there are more important values in life than money, material possessions and social status. They do provide you with the necessary comforts of living and guarantee existence, but do not comfort a soul seeking answers. The questions you ask now are ages old and have been asked by countless generations before you. The answers are found in differing ways. Perhaps traditional systems will sustain you, or metaphysics may fill the void as you move towards incorporating the qualities of the ninth phase of life.

Age 48 - AP at 9th House Cusp - Thinking Axis

To validate human existence you ask yourself; where was I before birth? what happens to me when I die? is there some greater purpose to life? has all my toil and pain to exist been meaningless and for naught? Answers to these questions if not found in the faith of your choice come through perceptive reasoning, intuitive faculties and dreams. No matter the how the answer is reached, these difficult suppositions are answered to your satisfaction by you alone. Once determined you have a measure of peace and serenity.

Environment - House 9

Developing a personal philosophy is the theme of this house. You look to higher mind to 'know' beyond the known and attain visionary lucidity. You express yourself outwardly through intellectual pursuits and challenge the 'status quo'. You change your perception, accept that which is greater than you and your world to embrace a higher sense of self. You expand your knowledge through higher education. You intuitively, embrace the new, overcome difficult experiences and improve your life through logical thought. By perceiving life in a broader context you weigh connections, implications and ramifications, draw your own conclusions and shape the ethics by which you live. - 9th House Questions: What do you believe? Where can you find 'Truth'? Why do you need to know?

You Side - Thinking Axis in Libra

Your approach to life is level-headed and somewhat detached from any one particular system of beliefs or philosophic theorem, but if you do incline to any religion it is likely the one in which you were raised. Still, you have high moral standards and ethics are the badge of honor you wear with pride. You believe in fairplay for all and though you have a strong sense of social justice you remain unemotional and detached about any serious issue until you are certain you have all the facts. You appreciate the opportunities for personal growth a higher education offers and enjoy cultural experiences that broaden your horizons. When you travel you like to share your experiences and prefer companionship to gadding about on your own.

The Ninth House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your attitude towards higher learning expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp. Your life philosophy and the extent to which you choose to expose yourself to higher education should not be major issues because you take much of your learning from life itself. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you develop and embrace belief systems look to the interpretations on Jupiter and Uranus and the aspects they makes to other planets.

Jupiter in Libra

You live by a strong moral code of ethics and believe in equitable treatment for all people. You're a quick study for any subject that takes your interest and enjoy sharing the knowledge you gain with others. Your approach to people is free-and-easy and you expand your horizons by cultivating supportive associates. You prefer to work cooperatively but you're also downright gullible and need to watch a tendency to concede to other people's opinions. Although you have excellent social skills you're happiest in love because your ultimate comfort zone is a one-on-one relationship.

Along with an optimistic outlook, self-confidence and tolerance are natural traits. You're also a consummate seeker of knowledge with the ability to inspire others to quest for wisdom. Because you're concerned with life's big picture you broaden your understanding of the world and anything foreign interests you. You believe that everyone has something worth sharing and regard peoples' thoughts as resources you can mine. You're attracted to controversial subjects like metaphysics and dedicated to self-improvement, but you can also be extremely dogmatic in your beliefs. Still, generosity of spirit comes naturally to you and one of your greatest assets is your capacity to relate to people from all walks of life.

50 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 9th House Balance Point.

The truisms you believe and trust in change or simply go from your life. You feel like you are drifting in a 'no man's land' and wonder why you scurry through life to win its prizes. To what purpose did you acquire so much knowledge. Many things make no sense at all anymore. Questing for significance you look back to youthful years full of hope and courage for solutions that helped you weather teenage angst. Personal interests are of lesser interest now. You let go of previously held perceptions as wisdom replaces a state of ennui.

51 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 9th House Low Point.

People are in need of the knowledge and skills you possess so you make a leap of faith. Until you have further proof to confirm or refute your new philosophy, you let it ride and continue to search for deeper meaning. You have attained a measure of stature and want to see your accomplishments acknowledged. Responsibilities to society at large beckons and you intend to have the world continue to take you seriously. You get on with life in a new way and eager to prove you still have what it takes as you move towards incorporating the qualities of the tenth phase of life.

XV. Quadrant 4 - Conscious I & Social Expression - Advising

At the age of 54 your focus shifts back to making an 'Impact on the Collective'. Planetary energies here work compassionately within 'the Collective' and seek to make contributions that advance the self-realization of others. If you have not yet learned to accept that you are a unique individual among billions of unique individuals within a 'Universal Collective' then you must do so in this quadrant. You do this by stepping back from the bustle of existence and going within yourself through activities such as meditation and inner searching. When you have developed a clear consciously formed self-expression you can impart your intuitive, illuminated perceptions and finally should you wish to do so 'Impact the Collective'.

Age 54 - AP at 10th House Cusp - Individuality Axis

This is your moment of truth. Strengthened with a new sense of hope you apply yourself to the task of making a final stand for recognition and peak fulfillment of your life expectations. There is no room for misconceptions here as you submit your efforts for public judgment. Any prestige or promotions received are based on real merit. Employers and administrators judge your competence and promote or pass you over. Disrepute falls on those who have attempted to fake success, by laying claim to credit rightfully belonging to others.

Environment - House 10

Understanding higher authority and gaining recognition is the theme of this house. You rise above mediocrity, by demonstrating your capacity to do so. Fully aware and in need of validation, you draw attention to the legitimacy of your efforts. Experiences that affect your profession and public position define the terms of what you may accomplish. You exercise mature authority over yourself and others and take control of your destiny. You understand that success is achieved with the aid of the system and by making worthwhile contributions to it. Laurels received even if they be intangible gratify your ego and have a bearing on your overall sense of security. - 10th House Questions: What role do you choose and how can you best fill it? What do you want to achieve? Do you have what it takes to stick with a long-term goal?

I Side - Individuality Axis in Scorpio

You're very mindful of your public image and focused on attaining a responsible position in your chosen field. You're diligent to duty, strive for excellence in performance and determined to achieve your objectives. You're not one to climb to the top on the backs of others but know there is still the possibility of jealous backbiting and take great pains to keep your upstanding reputation from being sullied in any way. You perform effectively in any assigned position and don't mind working behind the scenes, however once you put a course of action into motion, you cannot be shaken from it, even when you're wrong. Therefore when your mind is set to pursue a particular career, it's most unlikely that anyone could convince you to change it.

The Tenth House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your attitude towards achieving life goals and the ability to maintain self-discipline express largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp. This does not mean that you won't be motivated to be a success in life but rather that outside influences may direct your career so pay close attention when opportunity comes knocking on your door. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you structure your life look to the interpretations on Saturn and the aspects it makes to other planets.

56 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 10th House Balance Point.

If you achieved some form of tenure, you now feel rivals champing at your heels as juniors wait impatiently to unseat you. It is lonely at the top and the responsibilities are a stressful load to carry. The energy required to maintain the top position has become physically exhausting. You are consolidating financial affairs and hoping that you have planned well enough for monies to meet your needs when the opportunity to earn a wage goes. Youthful energy wanes and you pace yourself to remain healthy. If financial security is lacking there can also be a state of panic as you attempt to rectify the situation. The danger here lies in falling for quick get rich schemes that promise high yield returns on risky investments to make up for shortfalls in financial planning.

57 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 10th House Low Point.

There are times when your balance is shaken and stability is only found in grounded principles. Casual acquaintances fall by the way side as if by some unspoken mutual pact you agree to put distance between each other. Close associations with fellow workers ebb and you feel 'replaceable'. You envision pleasurable, easygoing, scenarios doing things you always dreamed of doing, but had not the time to do. If plans are well thought out you look forward to a time of rest where there is no longer a need to meet the hustle and bustle of the world from dawn to dusk. Retirement looks appealing from this vantage point as you move towards incorporating the qualities of the eleventh phase of life.

Age 60 - AP at 11th House Cusp - Relationship Axis

You experience a noticeable decrease in your social circle as fair-weather associates intent on benefiting from your success, begin to take their leave. Only people cultivated through mutual honesty and trust remain loyal. You see past mistakes through a different lens and perhaps you have a few opinions on how to make the world a better place. You may write your memoirs, or take a more active role in groups that work to improve the lives of others. Sadly at this time familiar faces and loved ones often leave your life through death. The loneliness that accompanies these painful events must be braved.

Environment - House 11

Developing an awareness of global concerns is the theme of this house. You identify with the human collective. You engage in activities that support your values and ethics as a member of the fellowship of man. You experience the world beyond your immediate surroundings, dream of a better future and seek to stand out in a crowd. You are aware of global issues and interested in developments that improve the caliber of life on a worldwide scale. You think that the power of one is exponentially magnified when people band together and hope with others of like mind, that governments will work together to achieve world peace. - 11th House Questions: What kind of friend are you? What do you do for others? How can you help to make the world a better place?

I Side - Relationship Axis in Sagittarius

Your optimistic outlook makes it relatively easy for you to establish a wide circle of casual friends and broadminded associates with whom you can share a carefree exchange of wide-ranging interests. You approach life with a live and let live philosophy and you're generous and openhanded. However you perish the thought of anyone needing you for emotional support and tend to give a wide berth to anyone looking to form that kind of bond. Still, you enjoy cultural interchange and some of your deepest friendships may be with people residing in other parts of the globe. Some friends will only stay in your life for a short time and then move on, but you can expect those taken to heart to be actively interested in fostering your goals.

The Eleventh House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your attitude towards friends and associates expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp. From time to time, outside influences may increase or decrease your desire to actively participate in a group cause or socialize with your friends, but these conditions are likely to cyclic rather than life-long. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you express your individuality and relate to your peers look to the interpretations on Uranus and the aspects it makes to other planets.

Mars in Sagittarius

Enthusiasm is your strong suit and optimism is your middle name. Your visions lie in the mental sphere of higher understanding and your ingenious, foresight lets you aim for what you want. You're eager to test your mettle and stretch your limits, by taking risks to see just how far you can go. However you often fall short of what you could attain because you disregard the small but important details that could guarantee success. As a rule you're easy-going but easily frustrated by someone poking a hole in your grand plans and when you get angry, you feel like running so instead of venting you simply go do something else.

You're driven to assert yourself as a self-directed individual and group activities offer you the perfect outlets. Being one in a group of people linked by a common cause provides the incentive to achieve something you would never accomplish on your own. However it can be difficult for you to compromise your cherished opinions without first reacting negatively to those of others. You prefer to associate with people who like yourself are independent, but leadership appeals to you and conflict with them is also a strong possibility. Still, you know how to bring out the best in others and encourage them towards a new directive.

62 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 11th House Balance Point.

This is a very touchy time. Retirement and the prospect of an unknowable future rapidly approaches and fear may grip you in bouts of panic and depression. You are performing duties as part of the team while at the same time distancing yourself from them. Watching others posture for your soon to be vacant position, or references to age such as sir or madam, can send you into fits of full blown rage. Failure to overcome this state of angst will leave you even more alone if family members and friends are also impacted by your mental stress. Health problems are common here and usually the consequences of a lifetime of physical and mental neglect.

Mars is Conjunct the Balance Point House 11:

63 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 11th House Low Point.

Retirement looms on the horizon and if you have lived the grand life this continues as long as you have the funds to support it. If not, then a rude awakening will show you out on a high tree limb without a safety net below. You resign yourself to the fact of what is now, a time of readjustment in the expenditure of both physical energy and money. Nevertheless after all adjustments are made if your health is sensibly maintained this is a very enjoyable time of life. It brings fulfillment and enhances the lives of those around you. While you may not be completely content with the state of your affairs you do accept that the work-a-day world can and will go on without you. What is done is done and can't be undone, as you move towards incorporating qualities of the twelfth phase of life.

Age 66 - AP at 12th House Cusp - Existence Axis

Having reached acceptance of your new reality, thoughts may turn to recollections of past events. You wonder how time flew by so quickly. Wasn't it only yesterday that you were a child, longing to possess the rights and privileges of adulthood? You have come to terms with many life situations on this journey and as you look within you can see in retrospect, the places where you may have zigged instead of zagging. Some memories bring back feelings of warmth, while others elicit pain as you try to find meaning and a final resolution to them. You are aware of your own mortality and like others who have left your life, you know you too shall pass beyond the veil in death. Yet you are thankful for the experiences life has given you and able to rejoice in the joys of living them.

Environment - House 12

Embracing a sense of 'love and unity' on a higher spiritual plane is the theme of this house. You incline towards self-sacrifice, spirituality, introspection and artistic expression. By subjugating your anima you find the connections to your higher self, identify with existential knowledge and experience bliss. - 12th House Questions: Do you consciously confront your issues? How do you deal with sorrow and suffering?

I Side - Existence Axis in Capricorn

Perhaps, when you were young you were led to believe it was unseemly to believe that grand achievements were possible and now a haunting fear of failure has you deadlocked in your tracks. Still, you're very capable of implementing your ambitious ideas though this trait may not be outwardly apparent. You adopt a conservative posture and try to remain content with small but significant gains, however you want to rid yourself of the feeling that you're constantly swimming upstream. No doubt it's hard to transform the impassive acceptance of childhood but, hidden within you is an innate ability to develop strategies that can better your life and the lives of others if you stop agonizing and take the necessary steps to make things happen.

The Twelfth House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your attitude towards all things metaphysical expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp. Occasionally you will find yourself in situations where you must deal with situations in your life that are confusing or even mysterious and while they may prove to be discomfiting these incidents are likely to be few and when they do occur their effects will be temporary. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you deal with life experiences that are difficult to explain or understand look to the interpretations on Neptune and the aspects it makes to other planets.

68 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 12th House Balance Point.

Issues resulting from a decline in physical capacity may precipitate a health-crisis. You face the last great life challenge and release all that is superfluous in your character. To avoid conditions such as senility, joy in living and sensible body care are implemented. This necessitates the letting go of anything external that can imprison you in order that a new condition of spirit and a mentally sound, vital attitude can be reborn.

70 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 12th House Low Point.

Once again energies from the birth ascendant pull you forward, as you reorient to a new manner of living. Your attention is divided between a desire to retreat and savor the yields of life's labor or embrace a new beginning. You feel a sense of contentment and completion now, as you sit in quiet repose observing life around you. Yes you are in the world, but not in quite the same way. Upon reaching the ascendant you understand what it means to be a fully integrated person. Lifelong experiences take on new meaning and at last are fully understood. You have come full circle as you move towards embracing the first house energies once more.

XVI. Chiron - The Rainbow Bridge

In Greek mythology Chiron was a wounded healer- teacher. This asteroid's orbit, between Saturn and Uranus, is severely eccentric, so it occasionally crosses the orbits of both Saturn and Uranus. Chiron bridge's the inner planets of your personal self and the outer planets of your transpersonal being. Its position in your horoscope sheds light on problematic patterns of behaviour that manifest in varying forms throughout your life. By reaching out and sharing insights that you have gained from personal painful life experiences with others, quite possibly you can help them to achieve mastery over their shadow-selves and by so doing also heal yourself.

Chiron in Aries

Chiron in the sign of selfhood indicates a life-path of self-discovery. Its placement suggests that your sense of identity was in some way undermined. Finding personal meaning in life is your spiritual quest. You clearly want to be a ground breaker in your field so look to the methods you currently employ for solutions to this problem. When others oppose your ideas does that leave you feeling that it's you against the world? Do you compensate through in-your-face aggression or withdraw into passive hostility? You must develop to your fullest potential; the ability to present yourself to the world in a manner that does not lack self-confidence, or display a cocksure presence.

Chiron in 3rd house

You have a great need to assure your clearly understood and in a sense you're on endless quest to have others listen to you. Still, you may be left with the feeling no heard you no matter the rapture of the audience at your feet. Although it's very possible you're brilliant and articulate you take the time to sort your thoughts before you speak so awkward timidity may be the root of this problem. There could also be an ongoing problem that is difficult to resolve with one or more siblings but if you have none then an emptiness inside you may feel like it can't be filled.

Interestingly you're very good at helping others to gain confidence in themselves so why not take your own advice.

Chiron opposite Jupiter

There is or appears to have been some fear of learning and sharing new knowledge. In childhood you were eager to learn but questioning was frowned upon and you unwittingly internalized messages coming from within your environment that went something like this; 'be optimistic but not too optimistic / keep your thoughts to yourself or our truth is the only truth'. As an adult you want to be happy and have a code of ethics you can live by, but if you find it a struggle to believe in anything then silently within, reruns of the mantra - 'I must not question or for every good day there will be a bad one' - are still playing.

Chiron sextile Saturn

There is or appears to have been some fear of affirming yourself and taking control of your life. In childhood you asserted yourself, but showing independence was frowned on and you unwittingly internalized messages coming from within your environment that went something like this; 'we know what is best for you' or 'look what you just did, you will never amount to anything in life'. As an adult you want to find your niche within society and achieve your goals, but if you find it a struggle to make decisions and feel good about your choices then silently within, reruns of the mantra - 'I must conform or when things go wrong it's my fault' - are still playing.

Age 72 - Continuing Forward - AP at the Ascendant - 1st House Cusp

1st House cusp. A surge of vitality very much like the one that moved you forward into life at birth occurs again as you cross the ascendant and reenter the house of early childhood. Until it is time to pass beyond the veil you will continue through the consecutive houses in an encore fashion. This time around you are mature and can effectively apply the knowledge you have accumulated.
